SCENE 1: THE BARE FIELD

BACKDROP: A field with no grass.

NARRATOR

This is a story from Norway, where Princess Elsa lives.
Once upon a time there were 3 goats who wanted to cross a bridge.

FIRST GOAT

Look. We have nothing to eat and I'm hungry.

SECOND GOAT

Me too.

THIRD GOAT

Let's cross the river.

FIRST GOAT

We can't cross the river. The troll will eat us.

SECOND GOAT

Listen. I have an idea.

(The goats move close together and whisper their plans.)

SCENE II: AT THE BRIDGE

PROPS: A bridge made of desks.

Backdrop: a river between the bare fields and the green fields.

SOUNDS: a running river (at low volume)

NARRATOR

(addressing the audience)

Can you hear the river?

AUDIENCE

Yes.

THE TROLL

(addressing the audience)

I am the troll and I am very bad. I am hungry.

FIRST GOAT

Trip trap. Trip trap. Trip trap.

THE TROLL

Stop goat. I want to eat you.

FIRST GOAT

Don't eat me. Eat my brother. He is fat.

TROLL

OK. You can pass.

(The first goat crosses the bridge and waves to the audience. He starts eating the grass.)

SECOND GOAT

Trip trap. Trip trap. Trip trap.

THE TROLL

Stop goat. I want to eat you.

SECOND GOAT

Don't eat me. Eat my brother. He is fat.

TROLL

OK. YOU CAN PASS.

(The second goat crosses the bridge and waves to the audience. He starts eating the grass.)

Trip trap. Trip trap. Trip trap.

THE TROLL

Stop goat. I want to eat you.

THIRD GOAT

No! I want to eat you!

(The third goat butts the troll and he runs away.

Now all three goats are together. They hold hands and dance around in a circle.)

NARRATOR

And the three goats lived happily ever after.
