

First Lesson with an Adult Group

A Icebreaker

- ① Sit in front of the class and invite students to ask you questions about yourself.
- ② Ask students to stand up, find someone they don't know, sit with them and to interview each other.
- ③ Each student tells the class about the person they interviewed. Meanwhile, you take notes so you can quiz the class afterwards. e.g. Who plays tennis?

B Your English

- ① Ask students if they know what a mind map is. Draw the mind map shown below on the board and complete it as a class.

- ② Discuss the results as a class, using the mind map on the board.
- ③ Draw the radar chart on the board

- ④ Ask each student to give themselves a score for each aspect and then join the scores to form a zone of coverage on the radar. The result gives students an idea of their strengths and where they need to focus their efforts.